PROFESSIONAL TRAINING

SCREENWRITER, NEW YORK, NY

2019 – Present

- Emerging writer possessing over 6 years of experience developing original material that aims to be compelling, resonant, and thought-provoking, with 40+ drafts of 5 feature-length spec screenplays completed to date.

* Employ self-discipline, committing nights and weekends to advancing skills outside a full-time career in a competitive industry.

* Conduct online research and read / watch relevant material to authentically world build.

* Prioritize improving unpolished drafts over churning out new specs to strengthen script development skills.

- Avid student of scripted content with 100+ screenplays / teleplays read and analyzed in both individual and group settings.

* Read countless feature-length and TV scripts – produced, unproduced, and from writers of varying experience levels – to better understand what is and is not innovative, marketable, shootable, empathetic, authentic, well paced, and well written.

* Draft mock script coverage to gain experience evaluating stories and to fine-tune my "taste" for quality.

* Join writers' groups to learn how to collaborate in the development process and communicate constructive feedback.

- Screenwriting objectives:

1) Utilize screenwriting as a tool to enhance my understanding of story structure, character, theme, plot, genre, and tone.

2) Build the skills necessary to consistently develop compelling narratives before transitioning careers.
